Paper report creation is impossible in HTML. Without knowing exactly the page size and format, the rendered HTML tables are almost impossible to print on a conventional printer.
That's why InterAKT developed the PDFReports, a PHP solution that allows on-the-fly PDF report generation.
Using XML as our main report description language, we are assured that the solution is open enough to integrate in every current architecture where reports are needed or unsatisfactorily implemented.
PDFReports can generate many levels of linked reports and subreports and allows connections to most relational datasources for obtaining the data.

The PDFReports solution requires a valid PDFLib license
